Storyboarding is a popular tool to facilitate insight and understanding around e.g. a process, a project or a problem that needs to be solved. It helps organise a group’s knowledge on a particular issue and gives insights into interconnections, interdependencies, people dynamics, behaviour and values.

How to use:
Storyboarding works well in groups and can be practiced in different ways. One way is to brainstorm what is happening and consider the issue/situation as a story with particular ‘scenes’. It is useful to represent each scene by a picture on a post-it and build up the story, moving scenes around and inserting new ones. Within the full story emerging, knowledge and understanding of the dynamics, interdependencies, values and behaviours can be drawn out and added as ‘narrative’.